

Privacy Policy

At IDA Ontario, we are committed to protecting the privacy and security of your personal information. This Privacy Policy outlines how we collect, use, disclose, and protect the information you provide to us through our Gravity Registration Form. By using our registration form, you consent to the practices described in this Privacy Policy.

Information We Collect:

When you use our Registration Form, we may collect the following information:

Personal Information: This may include your name, email address, postal address, phone number, and any other information you provide to us voluntarily.

Demographic Information: We may collect non-personal demographic information such as age, gender, and location for internal statistical purposes.

Use of Information:

The information we collect through the Registration Form will be used for the following purposes:

Registration Process: To create and manage your account and facilitate the registration process for events, products, or services.

Communication: To communicate with you regarding your registration, event updates, and important announcements.

Improving our Services: To analyze user behavior and preferences to enhance our website and services.

Marketing and Promotional Activities: With your consent, we may send you promotional materials, newsletters, or special offers related to our services.

Information Sharing:

We understand the importance of protecting your personal information, and we do not sell, rent, or trade your information to third parties for marketing purposes. However, to facilitate the registration process and provide our services effectively, we may share your information with the following third-party provider:

Constant Contact: We may share your registration details with our trusted third-party provider to manage event logistics, communication and ensure a smooth registration experience.

Please note that these third-party providers are only allowed to use your personal information to perform specific tasks on our behalf and are obligated to keep your information confidential.

Legal Compliance and Protection:

We may disclose your personal information if required by law or if we believe that such disclosure is necessary to: Comply with legal obligations, regulatory requirements, or respond to lawful requests from governmental authorities. Protect our rights, privacy, safety, or property, as well as those of our users, partners, or the public.

Data Security:

We employ industry-standard security measures to safeguard your personal information against unauthorized access, alteration, or disclosure. However, no data transmission over the internet or electronic storage method can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. While we strive to protect your information, we cannot guarantee absolute security.

Your Privacy Choices:

You have the right to:

Opt-out of receiving marketing communications from us. You can do this by following the unsubscribe instructions provided in our emails or by contacting us directly.

Request access to the personal information we hold about you and, if necessary, request corrections or deletions.

Changes to this Privacy Policy:

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time to reflect changes in our information practices. Any significant updates will be communicated to you through our website or via email.

Contact Us:

If you have any questions, concerns, or requests related to this Privacy Policy or your personal information, please contact us at info@idaontario.com.

By using our Registration Form, you acknowledge that you have read and understood this Privacy Policy, and you agree to the collection, use, and disclosure of your information as described herein.